A clear YES to down and feathers

IMPORTANT FOR HOUSE DUST MITE ALLERGY SUFFERERS

RINGSTED DUN

A clear YES to down and

The chances of survival for house dust mites are limited considerably in duvets and pillows with natural filling. All feathers and down are washed, heat-treated and dedusted. This ensures that all allergenic bioorganisms are rendered harmless. Furthermore, it is impossible for house dust mites to penetrate the very densely woven covers.

People who are allergic to house dust mites can safely use genuine down duvets.

House dust mites live the life of Riley when the temperature is 30-37°C, humidity is high, and conditions are relatively stable. Two things that house dust mites do not like, however, are light and changes in their environment. Normally, house dust mites thrive in bedclothes as all necessary conditions are present: heat, darkness, humidity and stable conditions.

But we can help that: By sleeping with Ringsted Dun duvets and pillows with natural filling and densely woven quality-covers, which ensure that heat and humidity (perspiration) is quickly transported away from our bodies while we sleep. If you also shake and turn over your duvet and avoid putting a bed-cover on your bed, the house dust mites are almost guaranteed to move next door, and if, on top of that, it is possible for you to air your duvet regularly, no house dust mites will be present.

If you do that, and you have a good Ringsted Dun duvet, you will never have to worry about house dust mites again.

If you are allergic to house dust mites, Ringsted Dun recommends that you wash your duvet 2-3 times a year and your pillow 4-6 times to be completely sure. The product requires tumble drying until it is completely dry!

We label our products NOMITE, so you can tell that the particular duvets are especially suitable for people who are allergic to house dust mites or people who wish to avoid the little vermin. If you want to be completely sure of the quality and to be protected against allergy in the best possible way, look for our Downafresh-labelled products®. This label is your guarantee that everything is top notch and that you are buying a Danish product from Ringsted Dun.

The NOMITE label is your guarantee that house dust mites and their nourishment - shed skin scales - cannot penetrate the cover of the down product. It is the dust mites that cause certain allergic reactions and not the down, which are on the contrary an unfavourable environment for mites that need humidity.

Therefore house dust mite allergy sufferers can safely buy Ringsted Dun down products labelled NOMITE.

Oeko-Tex standard 100 is an international and voluntary product control system for certification of down products. Among other things, the standard ensures that down duvets and pillows are of the highest quality with regard to health.

Our down products are certified according to the strictest Oeko-Tex 100 standard, Class 1, which means that they are approved for direct contact with the delicate skin of babies.

Downafresh

Hygiene according to DIN EN 12935

The Downafresh® label is a special labelling system developed for European manufacturers of natural filling and products with natural filling. It also guarantees a clean product of a very high quality. To be more specific, let us mention the following points: Filling must come from a Downafresh® manufacturer (own or another European manufacturer). The raw feathers are cleaned with water, and the drying process takes place at a temperature above 100°C. The cleaned feathers and down live up to the demands for cleanliness and hygiene specified in the European standard EN 12935.

Ringsted Dun uses Downafresh® labelling, which obliges us to order an independent test at least twice a year, documenting that the demands specified in the procedure for Downafresh® are met.
